Your Submitted Press Release

United States, 1st Apr 2026 - IPO Genie $IPO, a private market access platform built on AI infrastructure, has announced a community guessing challenge with $10,000 in $IPO tokens available as rewards. The challenge invites community members to identify an undisclosed emerging market opportunity before its official reveal.

What Is Happening

IPO Genie is preparing to reveal its next early-stage growth story to the public. Before the official announcement drops, the platform is giving its community a chance to guess the company first.

Ten winners will be randomly selected from all valid entries.

The challenge is open now. The reveal is coming soon.

The Clue

The undisclosed company operates in a critical materials sector. The material it produces powers electric vehicle batteries, consumer electronics, and defense systems globally. A single nation currently controls approximately 90% of the world's supply. Governments across multiple continents are now funding domestic alternatives.

IPO Genie identified this compelling equity story before mainstream financial media covered it.

- The ticker symbol has 3 letters.
- That is the only clue available at this time.

Why This Matters

Most retail investors hear about companies after the early window has already closed. By that point, much of the early growth has already been captured by institutional investors and venture capital firms.

IPO Genie (<https://ipogenie.ai/>) was built to change that. The platform uses AI deal-scoring to identify early-stage growth stories before they become one of the market's most watched names. It then gives everyday investors structured access to that information.

This is not a concept. It is already working.

The platform's first verified community identification was Redwood AI Corp. (CSE: AIRX), flagged as a high-conviction opportunity before mainstream coverage began. The next identification is larger in scope. It is connected to a government-backed supply chain initiative that has been developing for three years and is shaping up to be a market-moving opportunity.

How To Participate

Participation in the challenge requires the following steps:

1. Follow @IPOGENIE on X
2. Join the official Telegram community at t.me/IPO_GENIE
3. Purchase a minimum of $10 in $IPO tokens
4. Like and retweet the contest post
5. Tag five people in the retweet
6. Reply with the guessed company name and ticker

Bonus participation options:

- Add your referral code to your retweet for two times the entries
- Write a quote retweet with your investment thesis for three times the entries

Ten winners will be randomly selected from all valid entries. $10,000 worth $IPO on the line.

About The $IPO Token

The $IPO token is the access layer for the IPO Genie ecosystem. Token holders gain access to Hotstock deal flow, AI-generated company scoring, and tiered network participation rewards based on commitment level.

The presale is currently active. The token is available at its current presale stage price.

Smart contracts have been independently audited. Token allocations for the founding team carry a two-year lock followed by a 12-month structured release period.

About IPO Genie

IPO Genie is a private market access platform that uses artificial intelligence to identify and evaluate emerging market opportunities before they become investor-focused opportunities known to the broader market. The platform is designed to give retail investors structured access to early-stage growth stories that were previously available only to institutional participants.

The platform operates through a Vault system that delivers verified company identifications to community members before public announcements are made.
