Your Submitted Press Release

Founded in 2020 by Dr. Roger Achkar, GWCN has developed a multifaceted approach to tackling environmental issues, focusing on marine debris, air and plastic pollution, deforestation, biodiversity loss, and the transition to renewable energy. The organization's evidence-based initiatives aim to reduce the impact of environmental pollution and promote sustainable development through advocacy, research, and global collaboration.

One of GWCN's key areas of impact is its commitment to advancing sustainable energy solutions. By fostering research and supporting policy changes, GWCN advocates for stronger environmental regulations, increased funding for innovation, and the promotion of renewable energy. The organization partners with stakeholders from various sectors to promote practical solutions that address the global energy crisis while mitigating environmental harm.

At the core of GWCN's mission is its dedication to knowledge-sharing and international cooperation. Through its diverse network of experts and organizations, GWCN has facilitated meaningful discussions and initiatives to drive progress in environmental conservation.

Dr. Roger Achkar, the founder of GWCN, has played a pivotal role in shaping the organization's vision and impact. With an extensive academic background in business, social science, engineering, and sustainability leadership from institutions such as Harvard University, the University of Leicester, Cranfield University and CentraleSupélec, he brings a comprehensive perspective to environmental problem-solving. His leadership has positioned GWCN as a prominent voice in global environmental advocacy, and his contributions to sustainability have been recognized through numerous awards and honors.

Looking ahead, GWCN aims to expand its global reach and strengthen partnerships with organizations and institutions that share its vision for a sustainable planet. Through continued collaboration, research, and advocacy, GWCN remains committed to advancing innovative solutions for some of the world's most pressing environmental challenges.
