Your Submitted Press Release

March 31, 2026: IPO Genie, a private market access platform powered by artificial intelligence, has announced a community guessing contest with $10,000 in $IPO tokens available as rewards. The contest invites community members to identify an undisclosed Hot Stock company before its official public reveal.

The Announcement

Website - <https://ipogenie.ai/>

IPO Genie is preparing to reveal its next identified Hot Stock company to the public. Before the official announcement is made, the platform has opened a structured community contest giving participants the opportunity to guess the company first.

Ten winners will be randomly selected from all valid entries. $10,000 in $IPO tokens on the line.

The contest is open now. The reveal is scheduled soon.

Background on the Platform

IPO Genie operates as a private market access platform. It uses artificial intelligence to identify and evaluate early-stage companies before they reach public markets. The platform delivers these identifications to its community through a structured system called the Vault.

The first verified company identification delivered through the Vault was Redwood AI Corp. listed on the Canadian Securities Exchange under the ticker AIRX. That identification was made before mainstream financial coverage began.

The next company identification is connected to a critical physical materials sector. The material in question is used in electric vehicle batteries, consumer electronics, and defense systems. Approximately 90% of the global supply of this material currently comes from a single nation. Multiple governments have initiated funding programs to develop domestic supply alternatives.

IPO Genie identified a company operating in this sector before the broader market became aware of it.

The ticker symbol of the undisclosed company has 3 letters. No further details will be released until the official embargo lifts.

Contest Participation Details

Participation in the challenge requires the following steps:

1. Follow @IPOGENIE on X
2. Join the official Telegram community at t.me/IPO_GENIE
3. Purchase a minimum of $10 in $IPO tokens
4. Like and retweet the contest post
5. Tag five people in the retweet
6. Reply with the guessed company name and ticker using #Vault2Guess and #IPOGenie

Bonus participation options:

- Add your referral code to your retweet for two times the entries
- Write a quote retweet with your investment thesis for three times the entries

Ten winners will be randomly selected from all valid entries. $10,000 worth $IPO on the line.

About the $IPO Token

The $IPO token is the access layer for the IPO Genie ecosystem. Token holders receive access to Hot Stock company identifications, AI-generated deal scoring, and tiered network participation rewards structured by commitment level.

The token presale is currently active. Smart contracts have been independently audited. Founding team token allocations are subject to a two-year lock followed by a structured 12-month release period. All allocation and vesting details are publicly verifiable on the platform.

About IPO Genie

IPO Genie is a private market access platform that uses artificial intelligence to identify early-stage companies before they reach public markets. The platform is designed to give retail investors structured access to Hot Stock company information that was previously available only to institutional market participants.

The Vault system delivers verified company identifications to community members ahead of public announcements.
