Your Submitted Press Release

New Orleans, Louisiana, United States, 17th Feb 2026 - JurisDeed, the legal-tech platform revolutionizing property debt investing, today announced the launch of “The Innovative Investor Podcast”. The podcast is now available on all major platforms, with a trailer episode live and full episodes releasing soon.

Hosted by JurisDeed founder and CEO Stephen Morel and co-founder and Chief Strategy Officer George W. Jackson, the podcast delivers insider knowledge on tax liens, tax deeds, distressed assets, and alternative real estate strategies that can generate 12-18% annual returns, opportunities that 98% of investors have never even considered.

"For too long, property debt investing has been dominated by institutions and insiders who understood the complexity," says Stephen. "This podcast is about pulling back the curtain. We're sharing the frameworks, stories, and insights we wish someone had given us when we started, so investors can move from curious to confident."

The podcast centers on guiding investors through the journey from discovery to sustainable wealth-building through alternative real estate and property debt strategies. Episodes will feature deep dives between Stephen and George, as well as interviews with experienced investors, fund managers, attorneys, and industry professionals who have built wealth in this space.

"Tax liens and property debt aren't complicated because they're risky; they're complicated because no one's taken the time to break them down," says George. "That's exactly what we're doing. Whether you're exploring your first deal or scaling a portfolio across multiple states, this podcast meets you where you are."

The trailer episode is now live, with full episodes launching soon. Upcoming episodes will cover topics including multi-state investing strategies, due diligence frameworks, scaling from first deal to institutional portfolio, and the legislative landscape shaping property debt opportunities in 2026 and beyond.
