Los Angeles, CA – December 30, 2024 – Pet Transport Pro, a specialist in pet relocation services, has announced the expansion of its operations to Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Las Vegas. The new locations aim to address the logistical needs of pet relocation for clients across the United States and internationally.

Los Angeles was selected for its role as a central hub for international pet transport through LAX, serving clients in nearby states such as Arizona and Nevada. San Francisco provides access to Northern California, accommodating growing demand in the region, while Las Vegas offers a connection point for regional relocations and additional accessibility for surrounding areas.

“These cities were chosen based on their ability to meet specific challenges in pet relocation,” said Anthony Denicker, founder of Pet Transport Pro. “From limited airport options to increasing demand for international pet travel, the expansion supports efficient service delivery for our clients.”

Pet Transport Pro’s operations rely on a direct service model, managing all aspects of pet transport without the use of third-party contractors. This structure is designed to ensure oversight throughout the process, from initial pick-up to airport check-in, providing continuity in service.

The expansion supports broader goals to improve service coverage while addressing logistical challenges faced by pet owners in key regions. Plans for additional locations, including Atlanta, Houston, and Dallas, are already under consideration.
