Your Submitted Press Release

SlowBlink Maine Coons is excited to announce the release of its free Maine Coon Cat Color Calculator, now available as a convenient Chrome browser extension. This innovative tool enables breeders, cat owners, and enthusiasts to accurately predict the coat colors of Maine Coon kittens based on the genetics of the parents.

The Maine Coon Cat Color Calculator leverages an experimental AI-powered engine that analyzes over 200,000 Maine Coon pedigrees to deliver precise predictions. By inputting the EMS (Easy Mind System) color codes of the sire and dam, users receive detailed forecasts of potential offspring colors. The extension also includes comprehensive documentation explaining all Maine Coon EMS color codes, making complex genetics accessible to users of all experience levels.

Designed to streamline the color prediction process, the Chrome extension reduces the number of clicks required and provides instant access to calculations on any webpage, at any time. This feature makes it ideal for breeders working across multiple platforms or websites, improving workflow efficiency and decision-making.

While the calculator covers a broad range of Maine Coon coat colors, it does not account for rare genetic anomalies. The focus remains on the most common and recognized color patterns to ensure accuracy and reliability.

Maine Coons are celebrated for their diverse and striking coat colors, and this tool supports responsible breeding practices by helping users plan litters with greater genetic insight. By offering the calculator as a free Chrome extension, SlowBlink Maine Coons aims to make advanced genetic tools widely accessible to the Maine Coon community.

The Maine Coon Cat Color Calculator Chrome extension can be downloaded for free from the Chrome Web Store, providing an easy-to-use, on-the-go resource for anyone interested in Maine Coon genetics.
