Your Submitted Press Release

Founded by Filipina SEO veteran Jin Grey with 18 years of global experience, VentoRich establishes Phnom Penh headquarters as the launchpad for world-class AI SEO, GEO, and AEO services serving clients worldwide.

PHNOM PENH, CAMBODIA — April 2026 — As Cambodian businesses confront the most significant shift in digital discovery since the invention of search engines, VentoRich by Vento Media has emerged as the Kingdom's pioneering force in AI search optimization. Founded by Jin Grey—a Filipina SEO expert with 18 years of proven international experience—VentoRich is leading Cambodia's adaptation to a world where consumers ask ChatGPT, Google Gemini, and Perplexity for recommendations rather than browsing traditional search results.

Headquartered in Phnom Penh and serving clients across Asia, North America, Europe, and beyond, VentoRich has established itself as Cambodia's premier AI SEO agency, specializing in Generative Engine Optimization (GEO) and Answer Engine Optimization (AEO) services that ensure businesses appear in AI-generated responses across every major platform.

"The AI search revolution doesn't wait for any market to catch up," says Jin Grey, Founder and Lead SEO Strategist at VentoRich by Vento Media. "Cambodian businesses—whether serving local customers or international audiences—face the same imperative as companies in New York, London, or Singapore: appear in AI-generated answers or become invisible to the customers who matter most. VentoRich exists to ensure Cambodian brands aren't left behind in this transformation."

Cambodia's AI Search Crossroads

Cambodia's digital landscape presents both urgency and opportunity for AI search adoption. With over 10.8 million internet users and mobile connections exceeding 143% of the population, Cambodian consumers are rapidly embracing conversational AI interfaces for discovery and decision-making.

Key sectors driving Cambodia's economy face immediate AI visibility challenges. International visitors increasingly plan entire Cambodian itineraries through AI assistants—hotels, tour operators, and attractions that fail to optimize content for ChatGPT answers risk invisibility in the recommendations that drive booking decisions. Professional services firms competing for both local and international clients must now contend with AI-generated search results SEO that synthesizes recommendations from multiple sources. Real estate agencies serving international investors face the same AI-driven discovery shift.

"Cambodia stands at a pivotal moment," explains Grey. "The businesses that master AI search visibility today will dominate their categories tomorrow. Those who delay risk watching competitors capture the AI-driven demand that's already reshaping global markets."

VentoRich: Cambodia's AI SEO Pioneer with Global Expertise

VentoRich by Vento Media brings world-class AI search optimization to Cambodia through a unique combination of local presence and international expertise.

Founder Jin Grey's 18-year SEO career spans technical optimization, content strategy, and entity-based search across Asia Pacific, North America, and European markets. Her experience navigating every major algorithm evolution—from Google's Panda and Penguin to BERT and MUM—provides VentoRich clients with strategic depth unmatched in the Cambodian market.

Operating from Cambodia's capital, VentoRich combines deep understanding of Southeast Asian digital dynamics with global best practices. The agency serves as both a local resource for Cambodian businesses and an international hub serving clients worldwide across hospitality, professional services, technology, e-commerce, and real estate sectors.

"Being headquartered in Cambodia while maintaining a global client base gives us a unique advantage," notes Grey. "We understand what it takes to compete internationally while navigating the specific dynamics of emerging digital markets. Cambodian businesses benefit from world-class AI SEO services delivered with genuine local understanding."

The Generative Search Transformation

The shift toward AI-powered discovery represents a fundamental restructuring of how consumers find and choose businesses. Studies show that when AI-generated summaries appear, click-through rates to traditional search results drop to just 8-15%. The only traffic that consistently survives comes through direct citations—brands that AI systems explicitly name within their responses.

This creates the Generative Engine Optimization (GEO) imperative: optimizing digital presence so AI language models discover, understand, and recommend businesses when responding to relevant queries. ChatGPT indexing vs Google indexing operates on fundamentally different principles. Businesses that excel at traditional SEO may remain invisible in AI-generated answers without optimization specifically for LLM ranking signals and entity-based SEO for LLMs.

VentoRich's analysis reveals that ChatGPT 5.3 independently verifies brand authority through trusted aggregators like G2, Clutch, and industry award pages—checking these sources even when users don't explicitly request verification. This insight fundamentally reshapes how businesses must approach ChatGPT SEO strategy.

"Every day a business delays AI search optimization is a day competitors gain ground in training AI systems on their value proposition," warns Grey. "When a potential customer asks ChatGPT for a recommendation in your category, the AI confidently names the brands it recognizes as authoritative. If you're not among them, you simply don't exist in that conversation."

Authority Verification: Building presence on platforms AI systems use for verification—G2, Capterra, Trustpilot, and industry award pages—strengthening trust signals for AI ranking.

Content Engineering: Transforming key information into AI-optimized formats—comparison tables, numbered processes, FAQ schema, and HowTo schema—that maximize extractability for AI snippets Google ranking and conversational search.

Review Velocity Management: Implementing systematic review generation that builds the volume, recency, and sentiment signals AI systems analyze when generating recommendations. The specific language in reviews directly influences how ChatGPT and Gemini characterize businesses.

Multi-Platform Distribution: Optimizing simultaneously for all major AI platforms to ensure comprehensive coverage wherever AI conversations happen.

Continuous Monitoring: Tracking brand appearance across AI platforms, monitoring competitor citation patterns, and continuously refining optimization for maximum ChatGPT visibility SEO and AI search engine ranking.

Jin Grey: 18 Years of SEO Excellence Powering Cambodia's AI Search Leadership

Jin Grey's journey from SEO practitioner to founder of Cambodia's premier AI search agency represents nearly two decades of continuous adaptation and leadership.

Beginning her career in 2008, Grey mastered every major search algorithm update while serving clients across diverse industries and international markets. Her early recognition of generative AI's transformative potential—years before mainstream adoption—led to extensive research into LLM ranking signals, ChatGPT ranking factors, and Gemini content ranking factors. This deep expertise now powers VentoRich's methodologies and positions the agency as Cambodia's definitive resource for businesses navigating the AI search transition.
