Your Submitted Press Release

Miami, FL – September 30, 2025 — VMFS USA has announced the availability of its Commercial Services Program, a structured offering designed to support organizations managing or expanding vending operations at scale. The program is open to clients operating a minimum of 10 vending machines sourced from VMFS USA and includes operational features that aim to streamline large-scale deployments.

The services include delivery coordination, onboarding support, and account-based configurations for fleet management. Clients in this category also receive access to volume-based pricing structures and machine configuration planning for multi-unit rollouts.

VMFS USA supplies a variety of machine types suited to different business environments. Food-service locations can utilize vending systems that support heated meal options. Public access sites such as airports, hospitals, and schools may benefit from elevator-based vending machines that accommodate sensitive or non-perishable items. Digital-enabled models include large-format touchscreens, which allow for interactive content and product selection interfaces.

Organizations operating across multiple locations can also receive technical assistance for payment integration and remote monitoring. The Commercial Services Program includes structured access to engineering resources for supported clients, and fulfillment timelines are coordinated on a per-project basis.

“We’ve developed this program based on the needs we’ve observed from partners managing 10 or more units across regions,” said Jose Perez, Director of Operations at VMFS USA. “It provides infrastructure and support for companies looking to expand or formalize their vending business.”

VMFS USA continues to work with operators in the United States and abroad. The company supplies vending machines for use in commercial, institutional, and retail environments, and maintains experience with global fulfillment processes.
